It was raining. I went into a cafe and asked for a coffee. 31 I was waiting for my drink, I found that there were many other people in the place, but I felt 32. I saw their bodies, but I couldn't feel their souls(灵魂) because their souls belonged to the net.

I stood up and walked between the tables. When I came to the biggest computer, I saw a thin and small man 33 in front of it. "I'm Steve", he finally answered after I asked him a couple of times what his 34 was. "I can't talk with you. I'm busy." he said. He was chatting online with somebody he didn't know and at the same time he was playing a computer game—a war game. I was surprised. Why didn't Steve want to talk with me? I tried again to speak to the computer geek(怪人), 35 not a word came out of his mouth. I touched his shoulder, no reply. I was 36. I put my hand in front of the monitor(显示屏), and he started to 37, "Leave me alone."

I took a few steps back, and saw 38 showed any interest in us. Then I found that the people there were having a nice conversation with their 39, not with people.

I was worried and I sank in(陷入) my thoughts. I didn't even know that the coffee was bad, just as Steve didn't notice there was a person 40 him.

China's female swimmer Fu Yuanhui came third in women's 100-metre backstroke finals at Rio Olympics. China's online people have gone crazy about the 1996-born girl, not because of her performance or her achievement, but because of her cheerful answer to her performance during an interview by CCTV.

Finishing the 100 meter backstroke with 58.95 seconds, Fu, who thought it was 59 seconds, was quite surprised with the result. This was the first moment when she impressed Chinese audience with her surprising look and body language in front of the camera. The second time that the young swimmer amazed the audience was her honest and straightforward answer to a question raised by the reporter. "We know that your body condition was not that good in the past year and it's not easy to have such a result. Do you think you are now as good as before?" asked the reporter. "It is my best score ever. I have worked for three months on the recovery. Only the ghost knows what I have come through," said Fu, "It was so painstaking that sometimes I felt like I was going to die."

In the interview, Fu used a phrase "Hong Huang Zhi Li" to describe the great efforts she had made in preparing for the competition, which soon became a popular phrase on the Internet.

43. People were crazy about the girl because of _____.

- A. her performance B. her achievements
C. her beauty D. her cheerful answer

44. Which of the following is RIGHT according to the passage?

- A. Fu Yuanhui didn't think this was her best score.
B. The girl had worked for half a year on the recovery.
C. Fu Yuanhui wasn't satisfied with her performance at all.
D. "Hong Huang Zhi Li" became a popular phrase on the Internet.

(C)

Parents and teachers worry about games having a bad effect on students, and a large number of reports have been written about games leading to addiction(上瘾) and violent behaviour. If one is addicted to games of violence, he might not think fighting even killing is a very serious thing.

But not everything about games is bad. For some, playing games is a good way to learn as well. Many games are based on history, countries or planning. Such games can indirectly(间接地) teach students valuable lessons of life. Some games can improve players' memory skills by asking them to perform memory exercises throughout the game in order to reach the next level. Computer games are known to improve hand-eye coordination(协调)and help players develop problem-solving skills. Most games inspire players to meet more difficult challenges.

Computer games have both good and bad effects. Playing games itself is not a problem, but students need to know about how much time to spend playing games and what kind of games to play. Playing games is like any other activity in life—eating too many hamburgers or too much pizza is harmful too.

45. The underlined word "violent" means _____ in Chinese.

- A.怪异的 B.懒惰的 C.暴力的 D.攀比的

46. Many computer games are based on the following except _____.

- A. countries B. science C. planning D. history

47. Which is NOT true about playing computer games?

- A. It must cost a lot of money. B. It may have a bad effect on children
C. It can lead to violent behaviour. D. It can cause addiction.

(D)

Our life has become easier and more colorful because of mobile phones and the Internet. However, a number of worrying problems have come along with them.

Many car accidents are caused by mobile phones. Some drivers use mobile phones to get on the Internet while driving. Looking at their mobile phones and not at the road, these drivers have become a danger to us all.

Many of the dangers of the Internet are well known. Children who visit websites without their parents' permission sometimes talk to elder people they don't know and put themselves in great danger. People with blogs sometimes post information of people they don't know on their websites without permission. Some people even use the Internet to get personal information that we do not want them to have.

Mobile phone and the Internet safety tips:

- ◆ Use a "hands-free" phone if you need to use a mobile phone when you drive.
- ◆ In difficult driving situations such as in rain or snow, do not use your phone at all.
- ◆ Do not make very important phone calls while driving. They take your attention(注意力) off the road.

The beach was full by the time they got there. It seemed that everyone had the same idea that day. When they found a place, Tony sat down and began to enjoy the sun, the sand and the water.

Soon Tony noticed something strange. There was a water bottle in the sand. Then, a paper bag was blowing down by the water. People had littered all over the beach!

His mum explained to the unhappy boy that a lot of people littered instead of using rubbish bins. If Tony wanted it to stop, he would have to work to save the beach.

Tony worked hard. He got a group to help clean up. He put up signs and got his town to put more rubbish bins in the areas. Most of all, he let people know how bad littering was for the environment.

Tony worked hard to make a difference!

63. Who did Tony go to the beach with?

64. How did Tony feel when he saw the rubbish all over the beach?

65. Will you do as Tony did if you see rubbish everywhere in public places? Why or Why not?
